Working Drawings Approved - Kiefer Named Fund Chairman

Saint Leo College has given authority by its board of directors to obtain working drawings for its proposed combination Student Activities Center.

Hammer Building, Incorporated. of Tampa, has been commissioned to produce the drawings for the College by May 15 for the structure, according to Rev. Stephen Herrmann, O.S.B., president of the College.

Dade City Pharmacist Alfred O. Kiefer, Sr., a trustee of the College and Mayor of the Town of Saint Leo, has been appointed general chairman of Pasco County's campaign for funds to aid in building the proposed Center. Kiefer will launch his campaign with $60,000 already contributed in advance gifts and pledges toward the Pasco County goal of $100,000.

Named by Chairman Kiefer to serve on the Pasco County committee are Ernest L. Griffin, Tampa Electric manager in Dade City; Aubrey R. Mclelland, vice president of the Bank of Pasco County; Arthur H. Schrader, Jr., owner of the San Antonio Lumber Company; Bill Bailey of Radio Station WDCF, Dade City; Pasco County Rancher Danny Cannon: and Melvin H. Hansen, district supervisor for the Atlantic Airline School.

If Saint Leo College's board of directors approve the working drawings and give the go-ahead for construction, work on the new building can begin by midsummer. Goal for completion of the building will be in December, in time for the season's first basketball game.

The proposed building will be able to seat 4,000 persons as an auditorium, or two basketball games can be carried on simultaneoulsy with adequate room for spectators. As an auditorium, The main building is proposed as the home of the Saint Leo College-Community Artists Series.

The latest cost estimate for the building complex is around $800,000. So far the College has received slightly more than $200,000 in gifts and pledges. In addition, the College has applied for a federal government grant which will cover a third of the total cost. So far, the request for federal aid has been approved by the State of Florida and a final decision is expected from Washington.

The main building will be of decidedly novel construction. It will be built around a substantially prefabricated steel framework. From the ground to twelve feet height, the exterior will be of masonry and masonry-column construction. From the masonry to the toofline, horizonally around the building, the exterior will be covered with stell paneling. PIO

NEW PROMOTIONS ANNOUNCED

The Rev. Stephen Herrmann, president of Saint Leo College, has announced the promotion of two key faculty members at the College.

Norman Kaye, 36, who has served as director of athletics and acting dean of student affairs, has been elevated to the position of dean of student affairs. He also retains his position as athletic director.

Kaye, who lives at Lutz, holds a bachelor and a master of science degree from Northern Illinois University and has pursued his studies further at the University of Indiana. He is a Chicago native.

Kaye, an exuberant young man, displays his ability to lead in every phase of his life.

After graduating from college, he began his master work. He coached the freshman basketball team at the University of Indiana and also taught several courses for a year.

Service filled his next two years as he was stationed in Germany. During that time the basketball team kept him in good condition.

Dean Kaye

Lincoln Junior College in Illinois was a real challenge to Mr. Kaye. He was hired as the basketball coach and then promoted to Assistant Dean of Students. He later became the Assistant President of the College and was a counseling for seven years.

After visiting Florida, he was asked to the director of the resident program for Bay Campus in St. Petersburg. It is a branch of South Florida. He also took the responsibility of heading the Peace Corp training for Venqula.

The following year, Mr. Kaye was employed at Saint Leo.

Earl Grauer, 36, has been promoted from acting director to director of the college's division of fine arts. Grauer, who lives in Dade City, holds a bachelor of music education degree from the University of Southern Illinois. Grauer is native of Meridian, Miss. Befor coming to Florida, he served as a choral director of Hillcrest High School in Dallas, Texas for seven years, as choral director of music in several churches. One of the most outstanding accomplishments of Mr. Grauer was the selecting of 400 voice children's choir from a 1,500 voice high school mass choir. They preformed the Prologue to Boit's opera Mefietofele with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra in 1964. He has conducted many works with orchestra.

Mr. Grauer is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Simfonia (National Honary Fraternity in Music) and the Association of Choral Conductors.

Kaye, a bachelor, will be responsible not only for the rapidly growing Saint Leo College athletic program but will also be in charge of programs fostering the student government and student clubs, the student service (to the college) program, and events affecting the social and religious lives of the students. Both the deans of Men and Women come under his supervision.

Grauer, who serves as director of music for the First Methodist Church in Dade City, lives with his wife, Margaret, son Earl III, 4, anddaughter. Lisa, 11 months, at 23 Happy Hill Road. His division of fine arts at Saint Leo College includes the areas of music, art, theater and humanities.

Grauer also is director of the College's Summer Institutes. PIO

Study

One problem on the St. Leo Campus today is that most serious students find it difficult, (if not impossible) to find a quiet, comfortable place to study. When I first came to St. Leo I expected that I would be living in a place where studying would be, that much easier. I was startled when I found, that If you were to study at all you would have to do it in an empty classroom or during Library hours. And of course, during the evening the Library is only open from 7 P.M. to 10 P.M. After 10 P.M. the student must seek out a new place where he might be able to study.

No study hours in the dormatories, allow for noise and general disorder which hardly help in creating an atmosphere where it is possible to concentrate efficiently. The Administration complains about grade point averages but does nothing to improve the study conditions on the campus. It would interest me to no end, to no end, to see what the Candidates, who are running for next year's Class offices might have to say about this problem.

Richard, You've done it again!

Upon First Observing The Flat, Swampy Landscape Of Southeast Florida

Well, Mr. Ponce De Leon,
Was your head made all
of bone,
That you thought you'd find a fountain
Where there's neither hill nor mountain
To build up some water pressure,
And force it out a little fissure?
Did you think each swamp
a spring?
Did you take off everything?
And plunge in every pond
and puddle?
Was your brain in such a fuddle?
As you shed your coat
of steel,
Did you then begin to feel
A pulse of your returning youth?
Alas, you found it far from truth.
As you struggled in the Slime,
Did they pull you out
in time,
Before your weak old muscles failed you?
I suppose each time,
they hailed you
As the Finder of the Fountain,
Or whatever they could count on
To make you feel you were a hero
And bolster up your failing ego.
How did the mosquitoes
treat you?
Did they come in swarms
to greet you Monsters from the Everglades,
Perching on your shoulder
blades?
They didn't like your suit of mail,
But when you shed it,
did they fail
To pounce upon your tender skin
Every time you waded in?
And when you wore your iron bonnet,
When the sun beat down
upon it.
Did it cause your brain
to crackle?
Did you dry up like a Mack'rel?
Inside your suit of burning metal?
It puts me really out of fettle
To think how cruel was your plight:
You couldn't shed it
day or night.
For only steel would turn aside
Such mosquitoes from your hide.
But inside your iron toaster.
You grew smaller, browner,
toastier.
Did they know you back in Spain.
Or did you never make it agayne?

Dear Abbet

Frank Burke and Ken Habershon

FROM THE ABBET'S CONFESSIONAL:

Breatheren, I haveth here a letter that I received last week, but was unable to print because I misplaced it in my office.

Just the other day whilst thumbing through it, I cmae upon this misplaced memorandum. It was of such exceptional quality that I deemed it appropriate to print.

Dear Abbet,

Have you been to G.S.R. lately? Well if you haven't don't worry, you haven't missed a thing. From what I hear it's time for the summer repeats.

This week the special guest was, as always, that superfluous comedian Dean Swamp. After the usual announcements that dynamic funny man broke them up with his improvisation of G.S.R. It was a little long winded, and a bit dramatic in the middle, but it ended up with a good belly laugh for all.

Rumor had it that this all time scholastic epic may be cancelled in the fall. The latest Dull and Boring Report ranks it even below Romper Room.

I really think you should make an effort to see the show. I'm making it a point to get up early enough to catch the lecture.

I. M. Bored

Dear Bored.

How dare thee give me advice, and poor advice at that, for I would surely not rise from my slumber even if thou wouldst cross my palm with silver. Besides G.S.R. is in the same time slot as Romper Room.

Dear Abbet,

As you probably know there are only 28 more days left till they change the sign at the entrance to once again read "Happy Herman's Home for Tired Tourists."

I know this may come as a shock to you, but recently I took the trouble to find out what goes on here during the four months of our absence, and I discovered that St. Leo is the summer playground of the Senior Set.

Here for the modest price of one Social Security check, retirees can enjoy "luxurious" accomodations, "sumptious" meals, and a gay and exciting social life.

During the day classes are held in ceramics, Basketweaving, rughooking and knitting. Special courses are also offered in gardening, and artificial hortaculture, as the demand arises. Sports activities include such stimulants as shuffleboard, bridge, and tricycle riding.

In the evening social lectures are presented in such topics as "Sex after 70," "How to get the most out of medicare," and"How to save valuable coupons for your coffin." This year's program has also been expanded to include "Wheelchair Manipulation" by that noted invalid Good Willie.

What I would like to know is, why does the school offer such diversified activities in the summer, while during the winter we see nothing but dull and boring classes?

Young En

Dear En,

Thy speadeth the truth, and I know of this matter for even now I am knitting a new sweater for my tricycle rides.

Readers take heed, "for a little while I have been with thee, and in a little while I will be with thee no longer." As the time draws near for my departure I ask thee to send me letters of thy problems. I will do my best to answer each, and all topics will be accepted. Write Box 329.

Monarchs on Five Game Winning Streak

The Monarchs are on a five-game rampage after whipping talented West Georgia in the series opening doubleheader at Massey Field on Wednesday and sweeping a three game series (all shutouts) from Biscayne in Miami last weekend.

Ray Korn, Fred Cambria and freshman Kevin Carlin hurled strong shutouts in the Biscayne set, picking up where the team left off in last tuesdays rain-shortened contest in tampa.

Saint Leo was leading in that game by a 3-0 margin after four and a half innings of play when the skies darkened and the Tampa boys stalled for time. The downpour began, spoiling Cambria's bid for his first win of the young season. He had allowed only two hits and aided his own cause with a run producing single in the second up to that point.

Korn fired a fine 7-0 whitewash last Friday giving up only one hit. Cambria finally picked up his intitial victory in the twin bill opener on Saturday zipping a 4-0 one hitter. The tall righthander was effective in his two previous outings but lacked offensive and defensive support. Carlin displayed winning form and complete recovery from his December leg injury in the nightcap by whiffing 13 Biscayne men in the seven inning encounter. He recorded his first win against no losses in the 7-0 rout.

"Kevin has got great potential," explained Coach Meyer, "He makes this team stronger on the mound and at the plate. We were pleased that he had no stiffness in his legs on Sunday."

The well-coached, well-rounded West Georgia squad came to town on Wednesday for a six game, four day series. Last years' leading collegiate defensive team arrived boasting a 4-0 1967 record against the Monarchs.

"We feel strongly about losing four games to them. We think the hitting is improved and the pitching is deep enough for us to take the series. The boys are up for this, especially the lettermen who have been looking forward to West Georgia since last year." This was Meyer's Tuesday morning speculation.

On Wednesday afternoon Ray Korn beefed his record to 3-0 with a four hit 5-1 triumph. Captain Ernie Robinson provided all the offense needed with a two run poke to left in the fourth chasing Ken Kamradt and Mark Monnerat across the plate. Robinson later scored the inning's third run when he romped home on a passed ball.

Carlin got off to a shaky start in the second game on Wednesday won by Leo's 2-1. Eddie Czeck, the freshman moundsman from tampa made his college debut in the third inning in a relief role. With the bases loaded and one out, the 5'11", 175 lb. righthander put out the fire with a strike out and a pop up. He ran into trouble in the sixth and Cambria was called in from his left field position for relief duty with two on and no outs. Fred let up a run on a basehit followed by a stolen base and an r. b. i. single. He settled down to end the game in the seventh and last frame by whiffing the east two to end the game.

The Monarchs scored in the first on an unearned run and again in the fourth when Robinson walked, took second on a passed ball and raced home on a tremendous double to left center by firstbaseman Mark Plisko.

Meyer seems to have his squad performing more smoothly than at the outset of the campaign. The hitting is coming around and there are fewer damaging errors committed.

"Carelessness in fundamentals hurt us in the Florida Southern and first University of Tampa game, Meyer explained. "The day after we made eight errors in one game, we held a strenuous drill, working on basics. Our defense has definately improved -- we committed only two errors in the Biscayne series," the freshman coach pointed out.

The pitching statistics indicate excellence! For 69 innings in nine games: 44 hits, 13 runs, five earned runs, 18 bases on balls, 75 strikeouts, and a combined earned run average of 0.64.

Offensively the Monarchs have tallied 35 runs and 50 hits for a team batting average of .203 and a won-lost record of 6-3. Leading hitters are sophomore shortstop Gary Bond -.400: the clutch hitting Ken Kamradt - .316: and freshman center fielder Larry Sorenson- .310.

At this writing, Ben Maciocio is scheduled to pitch in thursday's single game with Cambria taking the honors in Friday night's 8 p.m. event. Dave Korczykowski and Eddie Czeck and Kevin Carlin will take the mound for Saturday's double header. Korczykowski, the freshman southpaw from Chicago, makes his first starting appearance for Leo's. He has worked two innings in relief previously.

Al Marsico.

Phi Theta Chi Split

Last Saturday Phi Theta Chi opened the softball season with Alpha Sigma Chi. "The Big Red", dropped the opener to "The Brown Tide," 11-2 in hopeless battle. However the "Big Red," bounced back on Sunday afternoon to beat Sigma Beta. It was a close game through the duration which lasted 11 innings. After John O'Hale singled in the eleventh, Bob Birbiglia came up with a shot to right center, to score O'Hale and win the game 9 to 8. Pete Longo was the winning pitcher, while Steve Casman played outstanding for "The Big Red."

The members of Phi Theta Chi would like to congradulate Ray Korn on a one hit shot out over Biscayne the past weekend, and also Joe Ciliano Who was very influential in the three game winning streak.

Phi Theta Chi would like to thank the students for their co-operation in the effort of St. Anthony's Blood Bank. We were happy to be informed that a new record was set, for any one blood drive by St. Anthony's Blood Bank of 122 pints.
